MATERNITY AND CHILDCARE LEAVE POLICY

Issued January 2025 • Reviewed January 2025

PURPOSE

The purpose of this policy is to provide clear guidelines for maternity and childcare leave to ensure female employees at Nagwa can balance their professional and personal responsibilities, particularly after childbirth. The policy aims to support employees during critical life events while maintaining business continuity.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all full-time female employees of Nagwa who meet the eligibility criteria for maternity leave and extended childcare leave.

RESPONSIBILITY

It is the responsibility of the direct managers, HR department, and unit managers to ensure that this policy is implemented fairly and consistently, while supporting employees in managing their leave. It is also the responsibility of employees to follow the leave application process and ensure all necessary approvals are obtained.

POLICY

1- Maternity Leave

- Any female employee who has spent ten insured months of employment, either with the current or previous employers, is entitled to 90 days of paid maternity leave in the event of childbirth.
- A female employee is eligible for this leave twice in her lifetime.
- For performance-based employees, the maternity leave payment will be based on their basic salary.
- If the employee has not completed 10 insured months of employment, she will be eligible for unpaid maternity leave for 90 days.

2- Post-Maternity Leave Period

After completing the maternity leave, the employee will have the option to either

- work from home for a period of up to 6 months, or
- return to the office full-time for a period of up to 6 months.

The choice of working from home or returning to the office will depend on the employee's preferences and must be discussed with the employee's immediate supervisor at least one month before the end of the maternity leave.

3- Extended Childcare Leave

- Female employees are eligible for one year of extended childcare leave after the end of their maternity leave or after the 6-month work-from-home or office period, with a maximum total of 12 months after the end date of their maternity leave.
- During this extended childcare leave, the employee's social insurance will be suspended.
- The employee must obtain approval from both their direct manager and the HR department.
- The extended childcare leave request must be submitted through the system.

4- Position Availability Post-Maternity Leave Period

- Employees who choose to work from home or return to the office after maternity leave will be reintegrated into their original roles.
- It is important to note that the position is not guaranteed to be held for employees who choose to take additional leave (beyond the 3 months maternity leave) and choose not to work during the post-maternity period.
- If the employee decides not to return to work after the maternity leave period or after the extended flexibility period of up to 6 months, the company may need to fill the position with a suitable candidate.
